Proceeds from this copy of Enterostomal Therapy Nursing Growth & Evolution of a Nursing Specialty Worldwide, A Festschrift for Norma N. Gill-Thompson, ET, Second Edition, enables the WCET Norma N. Gill Foundation (NNGF) to provide scholarships to enable nurses to attain specialized education in order to help fulfill Norma's vision of specialized nursing care for all patient's with ostomy, wound or continence needs worldwide.

The mission of the World Council of Enterostomal Therapists is to lead the global advancement of specialize professional nursing care for people with ostomy, wound or continence needs.

www.wcetn.org
Paula Erwin-Toth has over 30 years of experience in wound, ostomy and continence care. She is a well-known author, lecturer and patient advocate who is dedicated to improving the care of people with wounds, ostomies and incontinence in the US and abroad.

Erwin-Toth completed her basic nursing education in 1978 at the Akron City Hospital's Idabelle Firestone School of Nursing and she received her (WOC)ET education at the Cleveland Clinic's RB Turnbull Jr. School of Enterostomal Therapy in 1982. Her BSN and MSN were awarded in 1986 and 1990, respectively, by the University of Akron in Ohio.

Erwin-Toth served as the Director of WOCN Nursing Education at the Cleveland Clinic in Cleveland, Ohio, USA from 1990-2012 and now serves as Director Emerita of that program. She is CEO of PETprojects, a firm specializing in wound, ostomy, and continence care, education and advocacy.

Dr Diane L Krasner is a board-certified wound specialist with experience in wound, ostomy and incontinence care across the continuum of care. She is a Fellow of the American Academy of Nursing and a Master of the American Professional Wound Care Association. Dr Krasner is a Wound and Skin Care Consultant in York, Pennsylvania, USA and works part-time at Rest Haven – York as the CNS and Wound Ostomy Continence Nurse.

Dr Krasner graduated from The Johns Hopkins University with degrees in Ancient Near Eastern History and Egyptology. She went on to receive her Bachelor's, Master's and PhD degrees from the University of Maryland School of Nursing and a Master of Adult and Continuing Education from Johns Hopkins School of Continuing Studies. Dr Krasner was a Johnson & Johnson Medical Postdoctoral Fellow at the Center for Nursing Research at Johns Hopkins University School of Nursing.

Dr Krasner is the lead co-editor of Chronic Wound Care: A Clinical Source Book for Healthcare Professionals (4th edition, 2007, HMP Communications; 5th edition 2012). She currently serves as the clinical editor of the Restel Wound Product Source Book. Krasner is also on the editorial boards of WOUNDS, The International Journal of Wound Care, World Wide Wounds and Long-Term Living. Since 1992, Dr Krasner has served on the Board of Directors and as an Officer of several national wound care organisations.

Dr Krasner's research interests include wound pain, palliative wound care and legal issues related to wound care. She has numerous publications in the wound care literature and lectures nationally and internationally on wound and skin care.